OPERATIONS SUPPORT COURSE (Three weeks -- Full time)

The Operations Support Course, effective the 11 - 29 September 1967 running, will be three weeks instead of four. It continues to be for employees going to the field to support CS personnel in operational assignments.

Course material is organized to emphasize the inter-relationship between operating and support functions and to enable students to recognize the elementary principles of clandestine activity. Instruction is given on name checks; projects; personal record questionnaires; records maintenance; defensive and offensive audio surveillance; dispatch, pouch, and cable procedures; and message writing. Lectures are supplemented by case histories, films, and practical problems. Operational exercises are designed to represent situations as they occur in the field.

For further information on course content, call the Chief Instructor, [REDACTED] extension 3396; concerning registration, call the Admissions and Information Branch, Registrar Staff, extension 2365.
